

ABSTRACT

[0034] The present invention comprises an integral triangular voltage waveform generator (170, 180) and triangular to pseudo-sinusoidal current waveform converter (170, 180). The outputs of the present invention are preferably differential (130, 131), although the invention can easily be modified for single ended output. The frequency of the output waveforms corresponds to the frequency of the input reference clock.